

Expressions of interest (identified position): Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander member of the Australian Medical Council's Workplace-Based Assessment Reference Group

The Australian Medical Council (AMC) is a national standards body for medical education and training. Its purpose is to ensure that standards of education, training and assessment of the medical profession promote and protect the health of the Australian community.

The AMC is Australia's accreditation authority for the medical profession and works with the Medical Council of New Zealand on the accreditation of medical programs in New Zealand. It is committed to improving outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders and Māori through the assessment of International Medical Graduates who are embarking on the standard pathway for registration as a doctor in Australia.

The Role

To ensure the AMC meets its strategic goal of ensuring culturally safe practice to improve health outcomes, the AMC understands that we require Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander and Māori Peoples in our governance.

The AMC is seeking expressions of interest for membership of the WBA Reference Group from Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander people with a range of backgrounds and experience, to bring their unique perspectives on Indigenous health to the Committee.

The member must demonstrate the following -

- Involved in medical education and thorough knowledge of assessment standards in Australian medical education
- Provide advice on research related activities in WBA
- Knowledge and/or experience of the AMCs WBA Program
- Understanding of Indigenous health and cultural safety, particularly in relation to the work of the AMC
- Have full and current registration with the Medical Board of Australia.

Overview of the WBA Reference Group

The WBA Reference Group is one of three such groups established within the Assessment Committee structure to bring together subject matter experts to review and develop WBA as an assessment instrument for the AMC. It will complement the work of the WBA Results Panel and provide technical advice and considered best practice to the AMC's Prevocational Standards Accreditation Committee (PreVAC) to assist in the accreditation of WBA programs.

The role of the WBA Reference Group is to provide advice on and support the continuous improvement of the AMC-accredited workplace-based assessment programs or international medical graduates.

Work of this group will guide and will respond to the learning and issues identified by:

- PreVAC in the management of the AMC's prevocational accreditation processes and
- The WBA Results Panel in the implementation of the AMC assessment of international medical graduates who have been WBA program candidates,
- The Assessment Committee in its research and development of the AMC's strategy and processes for assessment of international medical graduates in Australia.

The AMC is committed to a working environment that is inclusive and culturally safe for all. The AMC encourages Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander and Māori Peoples to apply for all roles advertised.

Time Commitment

Members of AMC Committees are appointed for four-year terms. The WBA Reference Group is scheduled to meet five times per year. Meetings will mainly occur via videoconference, with the potential for some face-to-face meetings.

Arrangements by the AMC to support Chairs and members

The AMC will:

- Provides induction support for members
- Pays a fee to members for participation in meetings of committees
- Pays superannuation for individual members as required under Superannuation Guarantee legislation
- Arranges and meets the cost of necessary accommodation and travel
- Meets the cost of meals and incidental expenditure, such as taxi fares.

The AMC does not pay for time responding to correspondence (e.g. emails, phone calls) from AMC staff.

The AMC is committed to memberships that have a range of skills and experiences, diversity and different geographical locations and levels of academic, clinical or professional expertise.

How to apply

To nominate for the position, candidates must complete and return the Expression of Interest Form along with their CV by COB Sunday, 19 March 2023. All applications will be reviewed by an AMC Selection Panel and shortlisted candidates invited to participate in an interview.

Email enquiries and completed applications should be directed to: joanne.lebihan@amc.org.au

*Diversity and inclusion are considered essential to the AMC's continued success.
The AMC values the diversity of thought and experience and believes that an inclusive and collaborative culture underpins the accreditation and assessment of medical education.
We celebrate and promote diversity as a significant strength in our organisation.*
