

AMC Clinical Online Scheduling - Tuesday 31 March 2026 and Wednesday 1 April 2026

Applications are now open to eligible clinical candidates for the upcoming online examinations on Tuesday, 31 March 2026, and Wednesday, 1 April 2026.

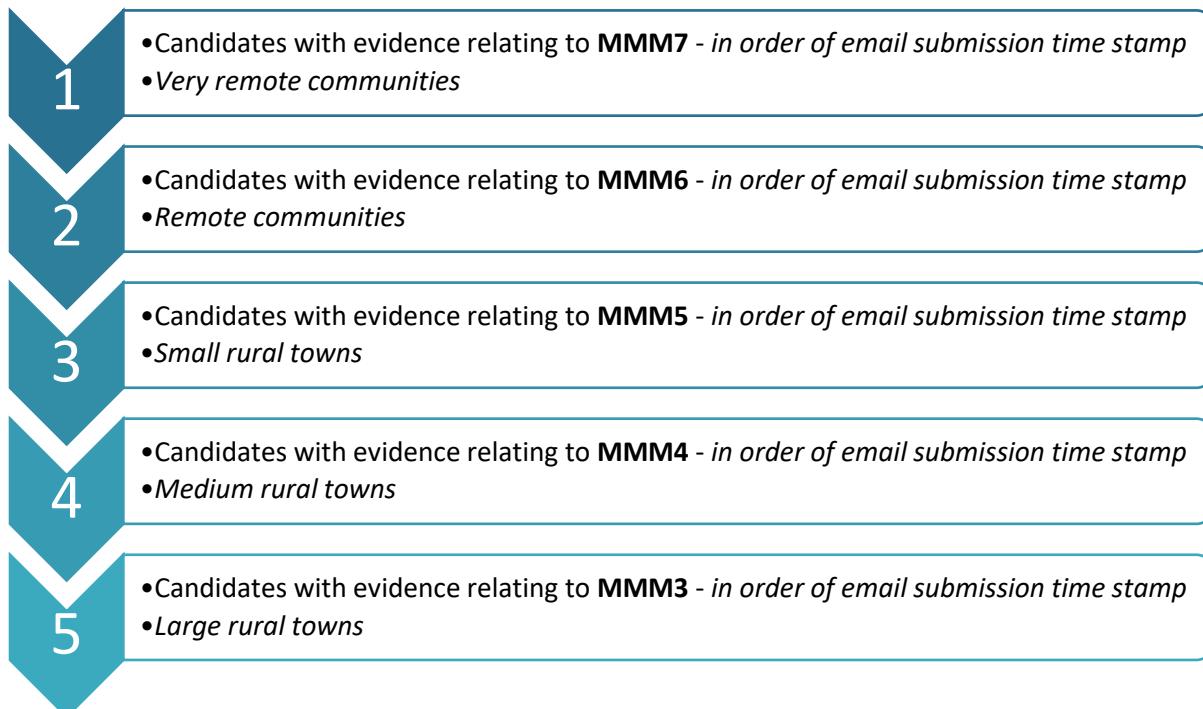

The AMC is continuing its priority scheduling for online clinical exams with an initiative that reflects the AMC's commitment to supporting International Medical Graduates (IMGs) working in rural and remote areas of Australia. Priority will be given to IMGs currently employed in the medical workforce in rural and remote locations. This initiative ensures that IMGs who support healthcare delivery in underserved areas can access online exam opportunities in a timely manner.

The AMC recognises the vital contribution of IMGs in addressing healthcare needs across Australia, particularly in rural, remote, and very remote areas. This prioritisation aims to:

- Facilitate progression toward full registration for IMGs working in these regions
- Support the delivery of healthcare services where they are needed most
- Acknowledge the challenges faced by IMGs in accessing exams while working in rural and remote areas.

How it works

The ranking criteria will be based on the Modified Monash Model (MMM). This model is a government framework for classifying remoteness and access to services in Australia. For more information on this model, please click here: Modified Monash Model. Applications will be ranked by MMM category and the time of email submission, along with supporting documents.

Applications are invited from candidates who live and work as medical practitioners in areas classified as MMM 3-7 (rural, remote, and very remote locations). You must email clinical@amc.org.au by Sunday,

February 8, 2026, specifying the exam date(s) you are applying for and providing evidence of residence and employment in an eligible location.

Evidence required:

- Employer statement or documentation confirming work location in an MMM 3-7 area
- Proof of residential address (e.g., electricity bill, driver's license, rental agreement) in an MMM 3-7 area
- Ahpra registration number.

Priority will continue to be given to candidates currently working as medical practitioners. However, subject to availability, candidates residing in geographically remote areas within Australia will also be considered.

Proof of residential address will be required for applicants from the following locations and their surrounding areas:

- Perth
- Townsville
- Cairns
- Northern Territory (NT) locations

Applications for Tuesday, 31 March 2026, and Wednesday, 1 April 2026 will close on Sunday, February 8, 2026. The AMC will review applications as they are submitted and may contact candidates if further documentation is required.

Following acceptance of an application, the AMC will issue a placement offer by email, with payment due within two business days of the offer date. The fee for the online clinical examination is AUD $3,400.

Examination placements are not confirmed until payment has been received. The AMC accepts Mastercard and Visa credit or debit cards for payment of online examination fees.

Candidates are advised that no further online clinical examination dates will be released at this time, and the eligibility criteria will remain unchanged. The online examination platform is no longer under review and will continue to operate in its current format. The AMC will not accept applications from candidates who do not meet the eligibility requirements.

If candidates have any other questions regarding the scheduling process, they can refer to the AMC Clinical Scheduling FAQs on the AMC Website or email clinical@amc.org.au
